PATHOLOGY REPORT

|-----------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Clinical Information. | More than 5-month history of recurrent periumbilical pain, acutely worsening to include right iliac fossa pain associated with nausea and vomiting |
| Nature of specimen.   | Appendectomy                                                                                                                                       |

GROSS:

Appendicectomy specimen measured 6x0.7 cm long with attached mesenteric fat measuring 3x0.7 cm, showing mucosal ulceration with wall thickness up to 0.3 cm.

MICROSCOPIC:

Appendicular lumen is full of neutrophils that extend into wall in between the mucosal associated lymphoid tissue together with lymphocytes and plasma cells. Such infiltrate extends to periappendicular fat. No evidence of specific granulomas. No evidence of appendicular tumors.

DIAGNOSIS:

Appendectomy:

- Acute (suppurative) on top of chronic appendicitis with periappendicitis.
- Negative for malignancy.
